

60+ labs

working to understand and develop new treatments for disease

1946

The Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation
was born

1950

4,000+ Oklahomans
attended the open house for OMRF's new research facility

8,000+
patient visits
last year

by people across Oklahoma and surrounding states for treatment in OMRF's multiple sclerosis and rheumatology centers

2011

OMRF dedicated a new research tower

1 of 7

National Institutes
of Health Autoimmunity Centers of Excellence

TODAY

OMRF now employs 500+ staff members representing more than 30 countries

15+ Years

as a Native American Research Center of Health partnering with two Oklahoma tribes to understand autoimmune disease in their members

$165 million
annual economic impact

3 FDA-approved
drugs

Adakveo – pain crises in sickle cell
disease

Soliris – rare blood disorders

Ceprotrin – protein C deficiency plus two diagnostic tests on the market and more in development

More than a dozen industry collaborations with partners including Biogen, EMD Serono, Merck, Novartis, QBioMed and Oblato

100% of gifts go to research thanks to a private trust and other funding sources that pay administrative costs

13 spin-off companies

7,000+ donations last year

2,000 patents

filed with OMRF technologies; current portfolio numbers more than 300 active patents

75+ postdoctoral and graduate students train at OMRF each year

600+ Oklahoma high school and college students trained as Fleming Scholars since 1956

40+ Saxon Students from U.S. military academies since 2009

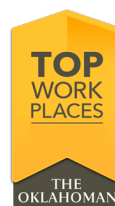

400+ Teen Leaders program alumni since 2013

200+ active research grants including collaborations with Duke, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Mayo Clinic, MD Anderson and Stanford

OMRF has received Charity Navigator's highest rating 23 times and counting 12 consecutive Top Workplaces in Oklahoma awards

825 NE 13th Street, Oklahoma City, OK 73104
405-271-7400 • omrf.org